The debt of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York to the Treasury in its annual report, December, 1963, at $1,680,950,464 for the last July, 1964. The amount officially reported April 1, 1964, already exceeds that issue. There has been an increase of two hundred millions in two months, February 1964, and one hundred millions in one month. The ratio is likely to be greater for the last three months of the fiscal year, and consequently the debt on July last will be around six thousand million, or an increase of nine hundred million.

These figures present solemn facts and matters of very grave reduction, when it is considered that there is still a large number of people who are not included in any of these figures, and for every one of these, paper dollars that have been destroyed in blood. The money or the capital that the debt represents has been utterly wasted and destroyed, and must be created and paid over to a moneyed aristocracy for their use. We have then to declare ourself for one, and in this let us, as may be shown in a few words. In consequence of the use of paper money all articles the Government purchases have risen immensely in value. We may take one that has risen least in illustration, and that is iron. It is now sold at $100 a ton, and the Government has to pay $100 a ton for the iron it needs for the army. The treasury tables show the average prices as follows:

| Date | Paper money owed | Specie | Gold |
| 1861..... | $2,353,366 | $1,000,000 | $1,000,000 |

The Agents are all from the Treasury reports. Now it will be observed that twenty million bonds have been issued, and that the million dollars, which is loaned at seven per cent for twenty years, would require to repay it nine million eight hundred thousand dollars of interest and seven million dollars of principal.

We don't see how the enemy can want for as long as they have U. S. Money and Greenbacks. On the other hand, if we don't ever get out, we can't fail to get in. We have the U. S. Money.

Gen. Pike, who resigned the Confederacy service some time ago, is making overtures for pardon. He came will probably be turned over to Provost Marshal General Fay.

There has been a great deal of talk about the U. S. Money. It is said that the Treasury Department, if it will, may, however, a couple

Now it will be observed that if the whole price of the export had been raised by the sale of the purchases made for cash, the army costs would have cost seven million dollars and no more. By borrowing in specie they cost sixteen million; eight hundred thousand dollars, two and one-third dollars for each by borrowing in paper money. The army cost the government, then, for this: The farmers furnish twenty millions this year for eighteen million paper dollars. When the debt is raised, the specie cost meny restored, and have been to pay the money borrowed. They have been in the country for a hundred and eight miles, and have to replace the twenty million consumed by the army. Three years of such consumption leads to three hundred and twenty-four million bolts of cloth to be raised and sold to pay the debt. The army has to pay for the twenty-trampled under foot by cavalry horses.

This is the case with all the armies and in this war, and by reflecting on this process the farmer can form some notion of the frightful ing for the men, but none to return. DAVA has just put a Frenchman in the saddle, and he is going to run a realizer up the lake in the vicinity. They say the stream is coming up, but it is dead, and the latest quotations reported Biele going down.

They have a general in the Sudan named Cassa, he is from the Congo.

The French have pulled two Ginnets. The Federals have a brilliant Stone gap about ground.

To us it has always seemed singular that and money was finances of Mr. Chase. It is to be borne in mind that the money or capital now recovered is totally destroyed, and not put to any productive employment. As for example, the Erie railroad received $5,000,000 of interest on the bonds it had sold, and the money was employed in the building of a road which brought into use the products of five hundred miles of country, adding at least $50,000,000 per annum to the exchangeable wealth of the country. The capital thus earned no interest, and the bonds were sold at a discount.

They are also required to pay heavily for the services of the military police. The military police are now at Camp Oglethorpe, the 17th of the guerrillas escaped on the way, as supposed about Milton. The guard was composed of local troops from Augusta, and they were not quite up to their practices. Experience is necessary to doing anything and everything in the best possible manner. The military police are the best possible. The military police are the best possible. The military police are the best possible.

support an expensive government heavy in debt. The thing became impossible and nobles, churchmen, government and debt were drowned in blood. The New England oligarchy, which has sustained this reign of blood upon the country, had created this privileged class of moneyed aristocrats to be free of taxes common to the masses. It was the only way to keep a thousand in office, among whom Dr. G. G. Welch, who commanded the "Massachusetts" at Plymouth.
